

FAQ

Silicone

Q. Please provide some guidelines for taking care of silicon rubber used in cake molds.

A. Due to the characteristics of the silicon rubber, oil residues that are hard to remove may look white. Wash it using a neutral detergent and boil it in water with baking soda. Please read carefully the directions for use of baking soda beforehand.